quor laws that might be made. The phrase "concurrent jurisdiction" was inserted in the Eighteenth Amendment because the advocates of prohibition felt after years of experience that the interstate traffic in liquors could only be regulated by Federal law.

But the testimony of the governors attending the conference is that conditions in many states have grown worse instead of better since the eighteenth amendment was adopted and that the need for effective enforcement is greater since the supply of intoxicating liquors have been reduced.

The Governors do not like to admit that the difficulties are purely local and that they cannot always be sure of a grand jury that is "dry" or of a prosecuting attorney who is in sympathy with the prohibition statutes.

So the governors are somewhat inclined to feel that the Federal government should help by more effective enforcement of the provisions of the existing Federal statutes relating to importation and smuggling and to transportation on trains and other vehicles from one state to the other.

Unquestionably the Federal government has not obtained all the results it has desired with reference to the control of the large coast lines of the United States nor has it been an effective in the prohibitionists would like to see it become in respect of the Northern boundary at Canada or the Southern boundary at Mexico.

The state executives naturally take the position that if the Federal government stopped importations and interstate commerce in liquor the problem of the individual states would be easier to solve. The Federal authorities, however, take the view that the important thing is to catch the local "boot-legger" and make an example of him by severe punishment. Some states have been too much inclined to let the Federal courts handle prosecutions with the result that the dockets of the Federal courts which have other important cases to try are congested and almost helpless to cope with the increasing number of violations. If the state courts would tackle the prosecutions there would be relief for the Federal judiciary which is always busy with vital matters relating to other laws.

But state courts are influenced by judges to some extent and local district attorneys are elective officers while Federal attorneys are appointed by the president. Local politics has much to do with the vigor or lack of vigor of local officials. And this runs down through the police systems of the states, cities and towns.

What has been attempted here today is therefore not a formula for practical co-operation but an effort to build a sentiment for law enforcement. Without the will to enforce on the part of local officials there will not be any effective enforcement no matter what advice is given by the Federal government to the states and vice versa.

In order to show that the purpose of the conference was more than the effectiveness of a single law but the broad subject of law enforcement, the immigration and anti-narcotic laws were up for discussion. The conference had but a few hours. The Federal government took up most of the time with speeches from the president and Departmental officers. A half a day was given to it all. The real work of cooperation must be done locally, day in, day out by the prohibition agents of the Treasury Department, the branches of the Federal government in harmony with Mayors and superintendents of police. The governors can remove local officials for neglect of duty. It is to that power the present conference is looking for effective enforcement of the law and the constitution.

Under the Pad-lock provisions of the Ohio state code, the state officers may lay their evidence before any state court together with their petitions for injunctions against the offending proprietors and property owners. If the places are not voluntarily closed, the state authorities, then, on orders from the court, may close and padlock the buildings, which may not thereafter be used or occupied for any purpose for one year.

Under a similar provision of the Pennsylvania code, Governor Pinchot recently started pad-lock proceedings against more than 1,300 defying saloons in Philadelphia, Scranton and other Pennsylvania cities.

On his return to Columbus, Governor Donahey will confer with State Prosecution Commissioner McMahon, concerning the details of his pad-lock campaign.

He will discuss with him also the practicability of calling conferences of Prosecution Attorneys, Mayors and other local officials, with a view to co-curing their co-operation for a concerted enforcement drive as proposed in the program adopted by the Conference.

Governor Donahey declared today that, though a Democrat, he has no sympathy with the prohibition policy of the Democratic governors of New York, New Jersey and Maryland—Smith, Silzer and Ritchie—who excused their failure of refusal to co-operate with Federal officials in prohibition enforcement on the ground that it violated the states rights doctrine.

"I'll tell you how much of a Democrat I am on that score," he said. "If Al Smith is nominated for President next year by the Democrats, and Cal Coolidge is nominated by the Republicans, I'll vote for Coolidge."

The Ohio Executive said he was greatly pleased with the speech of Prosecution Commissioner Haynes before the Conference, in which the latter praised the State officials for their prohibition enforcement work. Haynes said that during the past eight months there had been 6,340 arrests and fines totaling $1,079,000 collected in Ohio.

Separatists

The movement will spread rapidly so as to embrace the entire territory.

The French-Belgian authorities say that they do not intend to interfere in one way or another unless there should be disorder. Belgian officials in Aix-la-Chapelle where a proclamation was issued yesterday, took the position of interested observers when separatists headed by Leo Deckers and Dr. Guthardt, took possession of the public buildings at Aix-la-Chapelle. Suggestions are not lacking that the less extreme separatist factions will sink their differences in view of the success already attained by the movement and join forces with Deckers' band.

According to the latest advice, active groups of separatists at Mayence, Trier, Bonn and Wiesbaden will proceed, if they already have not done so, to establish their own republic in those cities. General Mangin did not hide his joy at the news. "It confirms all my contentions which have so long been ridiculed," he told a reporter for L'Echo. "The birth of a Rhineland Republic will insure both our safety and the peace of the world," he added.

Plan Republic Throughout

The Occupied Territory
DUESSELDORF, October 22.—(By the Associated Press)—The Rhineland separatists having successfully proclaimed a republic in Aix-la-Chapelle, now are planning to make their regime throughout virtually the entire zone occupied by France and Belgium. They hope to accomplish their purpose before night if possible.

Joseph Matthes, the separatist leader, set up general headquarters at Dueren from which to direct the occupation of public buildings by his followers.

The French and Belgians placed a telephone system at Matthes' disposal in order to keep in close touch with movements throughout the Rhineland.

Few details of what actually happened overnight had reached French headquarters today and at that time it was unknown whether the towns of Cologne and Muenchen-Gladbach were completely according to schedule. The separatists worked feverishly to establish their republic before counter plans could be set up. The public telephone system at Aix-la-Chapelle was interrupted to prevent the coup reaching Berlin.

Ready To Pay Reparations
BRUSSELS, October 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Leo Deckers, the sixty-year-old manufacturer, who is one of the leaders of the separatist coup at Aix-la-Chapelle, said today the separatists would recognize the treaty of Versailles and were ready to assume their share of the reparations. He declared that Coblenz would be the capital of the new republic.

The Rhineland forces, he said, were organized into military formations but are unarmed. Nevertheless, they know where to find weapons if necessary, he added.

NERVES ON FIRE FROM NEURITIS

Thousands of people afflicted with neuritis take medicine for rheumatism and wonder why they don't get well. Such people do not know that even a slight attack of rheumatism may develop into a severe case of neuritis or "nerve inflammation," which calls for different treatment.

Neuritis is often accompanied by a feeling of stiffness in the neck, soreness in the muscles, stiffness in the joints or a tingling sensation in the hands and feet. Always there is intense, sharp, agonizing pain which may hurt constantly or only at intervals.

Edna Senfritz, Tablets will quickly soothe the throbbing, aching nerves and gradually assist in removing inflammation and soreness, thus restoring normality of the nerves and muscles. Price $1. It is estimated that more than 20,000 communicants will be reached in the diocese in the three intervening weeks before the opening of the intensive campaign which is known as the "Every Member Canvass" and which ends December 3.

Four hundred thousand dollars has been announced as northern Ohio's quota in the 1924 program of $7,000,000 to cover costs of existing work and projects of the church at home and abroad.

May Prefer Charges Against Senator Fess

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 22.—(Special)—The U. S. Senate will be asked to judge the qualifications of Senator Simeon D. Fess of Ohio, with the intent of barring him from his seat when it meets on Dec. 6. Carl H. Hempstead of Wilmington, former enrolling clerk of the House of Representatives, and a Democrat, has made charges against Fess, which he says he will submit to every member of the Senate.

Hempstead has twelve pages of charges against Fess which he tried to file with the Secretary of the Senate before adjournment last spring. At that time the letter containing the charges was turned back by the secretary, George A. Sanders.

Now Hempstead, who has never made full disclosure of all he alleges against Senator Fess, says that he will again submit the charges to Fess and his friends say that there was no objection to his directing part of the committee's funds to his own campaign.

Hempstead was at one time Democratic candidate for representative in Congress from the Seventh Ohio District. He is now in Washington with the Democratic National committee.

Poisoned Nerves Cause Neuritis

Neuritis or "nerve inflammation" often follows an attack of malaria, poisoning, typhoid fever, pneumonia or some other infectious disease. The most frequent causes of the trouble, however, are colds, injuries, bruises or nervous exhaustion.

Neuritis may affect one nerve or it may involve many. In some cases the pain moves from place to place, but usually it is confined to the shoulder, neck, forearm, thigh, leg or small of the back.

Beware of drugs that relieve by deadening the nerves. Such relief is deceptive and dangerous. Epsom's Neuritis Tablets act in a safe, natural way, helping to remove the inflammation and bring about permanent, lasting results. Go today and obtain a dollar bottle of these tablets. put to the uses of the farmer giving him cheaper power than he could generate himself.

In order to bring this plan into general use, Hoover said that existing legislation in many states where the law forbids carrying of current out of the state would have to be amended.

The survey of electrical methods now in use among farmers throughout the world, which Hoover says his department is about to inaugurate, will include every department of farming to which electrical current may be applied. This includes lighting, running the churn, milking machines, corn blenders, fan drying, hoisting, hay pressing, and every other phase of farmers' work.

The results of the survey will be placed at the disposal of the committee and the American Farm Bureau.

94 Per Cent Of Ohio State Students Are From Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Oct. 22.—How well the Ohio State University serves the Buckeye commonwealth is illustrated by the fact that slightly more than 94 per cent of the 8,300 students enrolled this fall are from Ohio cities, villages and farms.

A preliminary survey of registration statistics shows that all of the state's 88 counties are represented by at least one student on the campus. Franklin county leads, as usual, with more than 2,500, most of whom reside in Columbus.

Maintaining its showing of recent years, Cleveland takes second place once more with 576 students. Toledo, Dayton, Springfield, Akron, Canton, Youngstown, Cincinnati and other Buckeye cities furnish ample quotas, as usual.

A dozen foreign countries besides the insular possessions of the United States are well represented on the campus. Forty-two of the 48 states of the union have sent their youth to the Ohio State campus.

West Virginia, Indiana and Pennsylvania are running virtually neck and neck for the honor of being second to Ohio in sending students to the University. At present West Virginia has 73, Indiana 79 and Pennsylvania 65. There has been a great increase in the number of West Virginians enrolled at the University in recent years. Other states well represented include Michigan, New York, Illinois, Kentucky, Massachusetts and New Jersey.

Chinese students are far in the van in the foreign group with 21, one of them a girl. One of the Chinese students, Richard Li, is the son of a former minister of finance of China.

Other foreign nations who find places on the Buckeye campus are Argentina, Armenia, Haiti, San Domingo, India, Japan, Korea, Canada, South Africa, Columbia and Greece. Filipino students lead among the American dependents with seven. Three are registered from Hawaii and two from Porto Rico.

States which are represented by a single student are North Dakota, Arkansas, Idaho, Rhode Island, Washington, New Mexico, Tennessee and Oregon.

TOO MUCH ELLSESSOR AND McCONNELL

Now the sport scribbles of Ironton are alleging an excuse as to why the famous Davies squad went down to defeat before the well drilled Red and Blue squad. The big excuse is that U. H. S. had the orange and Black greatly outwheeled.

The opinion of a number of Ironton football fans Sunday was that Ellsessor and McConnell proved too much for the Ironton Reds, who were unable to stop the colored lad on his line plunges and Peggy on his end runs and sneaks through the line. Ellsessor also comes in for a great deal of credit in the passing and punting departments of the game.

WOMAN SUES OFFICIALS AFTER RAID

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 22.—Nettie Vickers, in charge of the Eighth street hotel, filed a suit asking for $25,000 damages against Chief of Police Midkiff, Judge Homer Melrose, and nine other city officers with the circuit clerk yesterday, charging that a number of raids made by the officers have deprived her of "health, home, happiness and good name" to the extent of $25,000.

The activities of the city officers are characterized as "unlawful and wicked" in her bill of particulars, and the raids were said to be made in a "hostile and profane manner."

She also charged the officers with threatening her safety unless she left the city immediately. The officers, when making raids, broke locks on doors and threw her hotel into a state of uproar, she charges.

SWALLOWED UP

By MRS. WILSON WOODROW

Illustrated by R.W. JEFFERSON

CHIEF BY BRENTANO — CHIEF BY THE SUBWAY COMPANY

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

Hope Ranger is made prisoner in a sanitarium conducted by a group of criminals called the "Combiners."
A letter is written to Loring Ranger, Hope's father, telling him where to leave a hundred thousand dollars' worth of bonds. He acts according to instructions.

Jaurez Charlie, and friend of Loring, follows a clue leading to the sanitarium. Hope and Dr. Kelsey, another prisoner, escape in a machine belonging to Dr. Bristow, the superintendent.

Bristow follows them to an abandoned house. Hope hears Bristow's voice in the yard and, while Kelsey sleeps, she surrenders and swears that Kelsey has abandoned her. Alderman Higgins, head of the "Com-biners," tells Bristow that the girl must be killed.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
"Then I'm to be her escort?" Bristow asked bitterly. He knew that he was defeated.

Higgins looked at him with a smile of wintry derision.
"No, I guess we'll leave you out of this, Doc. We can't afford to have no mistakes made. I'll go along with the little lady myself. Kind of bad for my rheumatism to have to lay there in the road, when the car goes off the bridge; but I don't see no other way."

The Superintendent straightened up as if to defy this show of authority. For a long minute he and Higgins faced each other. Then, overturning a chair as he went, he left the room.

As he flung out of the door, he collided with Morton who was crouching at the door. He caught the other hand, he closed the door behind him.

CHAPTER XXVI
PUSHED backward from the door, still with that constraining clutch on his throat, Morton's popping eyes were fixed on Bristow's face. His amazement was even greater than his fright.

There was a quality in this summary and violent capture which prevented him from following his primitive impulse to struggle and kick. The hand that choked him seemed also to hold him up. Bristow was pale and certainly determined, but there was something of the hot anger that his action would indicate.
On the contrary, he conveyed to Morton by some electric telepathy that his assault was necessary and entirely friendly.

At the head of the stairs he resisted his vision with a low, "Sh!" his finger laid against his lips, and giving the house physician a moment to gain his breath, threw an arm about his shoulder, and led him stumbling and still purple and gasping, down the steps to the office.

Bristow stood on the hearthrug, straightening out his cuffs, and surveyed Morton reflectively.

"You needn't be afraid of me, Morton," he said earnestly. "I'm only too grateful to you, too utterly grateful."

A shattered faith is not easily restored. Still, Morton remembered.
Bristow had fought to save the girl, although his merit was counterbal-anced in his mind by Miss Copley's accusations.

"How much of the conversation up there did you overhear?" Bristow asked, without betraying too much interest.

"A good deal of it," Morton stammered. "Enough to know that you were against them."

"Suppose," he said, "before we go deeply into this matter, you tell me just what you are doing up there.
Listening, of course. But why?"

Morton reddened his thumbs, and looked confused.

"I have felt for some days that there was something wrong in the matter of this girl. I—I read the papers. I suspected."

Bristow waited, his hand, and smiled commiseratingly.

"Don't go on trying to invent.
You're not adroit enough. You'd be helping that girl far more by telling me the facts now. Time is flying."

"My dear Doctor," Bristow threw all the weight of his powerful personality into the words, "this is no time to keep up an unjustifiable silence. You are taking a responsibility on yourself in doing so, that you will bitterly regret later."

He spoke slowly, choosing his words. "Morton, as God is my judge, I knew nothing of this terrible affair until last night, after I failed to find Kelsey. Then Higgins and Miss Copley thought it best to take me into their confidence. It was a thunderbolt to me. Up to that time I never questioned but that the girl was Miss Copley's sister."

"Therefore, I went to the meeting
this afternoon in complete confidence.
Well, with a shrug, 'you know the result. You must,' with affected sheepishness, 'have thought me incredibly stupid. But in dealing with Higgins, I have learned, one has to talk his language. He thinks in plots, and suspects any motive that is not selfish and mercenary. So, in order to get his ear at all, I had to present a crafty scheme of worming myself into Ranger's good graces. All humk, of course."

Morton was more bewildered than ever. Bristow's story impressed him.
"The people I saw to-day"—some force stronger than himself seemed drawing the words from him—"were Dr. Kelsey and a man who called himself Jaurez Charlie."

Bristow scraped his chair back on the polished floor.

"Where are they?"
"At the old Rose house."

Morton had told everything now that he had sworn not to reveal, and he was agonized wondering whether he had been wise or merely treacherous.

A slow, crestfallen flush spread over Bristow's face. Higgins was right; he had muddled.

He nodded at Morton. "When do you get in touch with them again?"
"I ought to be doing it now."

Bristow ignored the hint of restlessness.

"How did Jaurez Charlie happen to be there?" He wanted all the links in the chain.

"I don't know that; but he was.
And they have plenty of money. Oh, come to think of it, he said that he rode down here last night. There was something about a hat—a hat that had been bought by Mr. Ranger and then exchanged by Miss Copley for one that was sent here."

That gave him the clue.
"Ah-h!" Bristow leaned back greatly, with restored complacency. The responsibility for the muddle was shifted from his shoulders to Anita's.

He paced back and forth across the hearth-rug in thought.
Rapidly he mapped out a plan of action. Higgins would probably not start on his drive until after dark.
That disposed of him. Kelsey and Charlie would wait at the old house to hear from Morton. But Anita?
How eliminate her?

MORTON'S POPPING EYES WERE FIXED ON BRISTOW'S FACE.

He looked down at Morton.
"Doctor, you must get Miss Ranger away at once. We will drive by the Rose place and pick up Kelsey and his friend on our way to town. What we have to meet now is the chance of interference by Miss Copley. Is there any one of the patients in a particularly bad way to-day?"

"Yes," replied Morton; "I've had to go twice to quiet Miss Susy Doane."

"Then call up Higgins' apartment, and ask Miss Copley to relieve the nurse in charge until six o'clock.
Make it a request from yourself. Tell her you have tried to reach me, but couldn't find me."

Morton complied. "She said she would take charge at once," he reported, as he placed the instrument on the table.

"Then let's be moving," Bristow motioned him toward the door.

"They were in a small inner room of the Superintendent's suite. There were no windows, only a skylight. As highly turned his back, Bristow was on him, pinning his arms down and pushing him toward a closet."

Morton struggled frantically to free himself, but Bristow had all the advantage. He shoved him roughly into the closet and closed the door, locking it.

TEN CHAPTER XXVII
TEN minutes later Bristow un-knocked the door of Hope's room, knocked, and without waiting for an answer came in quickly.

She was standing in the middle of the floor, and as she saw that she smiled, a smile which he interpreted as a welcome. It was in a measure; any one was better than Anita Copley. Then her eyes fell on the bundle he was carrying, and she looked at him, questioningly.

"He tossed it on a chair. 'For you,'
he said; and coming nearer, took both her cool hands in his.

There was something new in his manner, an absence of pose, a gravity and forcefulness which she was quick to feel.

"Don't keep up any pretenses with me, Miss Ranger. It isn't necessary
now. I don't take it that way."

As she dragged her hands from his and looked at him with dilating eyes.
"Wait, I'm your friend. Your only one here."

"Until last night," he went on, "I believed, truly believed, that you were Miss Copley's sister. After you escaped, and Higgins confessed their whole damnable plot to me, but I did not understand then, nor do they now, that you are and have been perfectly sane. I only discovered that this afternoon."

"How did you learn this?"
"Through Kelsey," he answered.
"Where is George Kelsey?"

Immunizing Children From Diphtheria

Fully 3,000 children, in four counties, will be Schick-tested next week by four physicians from the Ohio Department of Health. This is part of the department's campaign to eliminate preventable diphtheria from the state, which is hardly more than under way, but in which more than 20,000 children have been tested to determine their susceptibility to diphtheria. While the members of this staff are testing the school children of four communities as to susceptibility, Dr. F. G. Boudreau, chief of the division of communicable diseases, will go to Marion to immunize 75 children in the county home, previously tested.

Nearly all the children Schick-tested heretofore have been inmates of la-sallitutions; but the department is ready now for the general campaign among school children, and wherever the local health commissioners can avaken the interest of parents to the importance of the work, it is being undertaken in the schools.

PORTSMOUTH, OHIO

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Dolly—To settle an argument I could like to know about how long a widow should wait after her husband's death before she steps out with another man? I know some that wait a few weeks, others after a few months, while others think they have waited years and years. I mean the best possible time without causing any.

YOUNG WIDOW.

Waiting or not waiting, does not have much effect on the gossip that is usually attached to a widow and her tales. There are certain people who will talk if you do, and talk if you don't. They will also talk if you step out too soon, or if you wait for years. It is quite proper for a widow to receive the attentions of other men after a year has passed, but she should not encourage men to all in love with her even though she has known them all her life, unless she is really in love herself. The best policy for her to follow is that of moderation.

Dear Dolly—What do you think of a man who will get married and then his second wife abuse his helpless children? Don't you think a man like that ought to be tarred and feathered? I know a man who married a great big stiff of a woman who did not care no more for him than a rabbit and he sits by and lets her beat up his children. She just married this man for what he had and what she could get out of him, and he spends all his money and abuse his children. Just what can a man like that be thinking about? His first wife was a good woman and worked hard to place him in the position he now occupies and then this other husky comes along and enjoys the fruits of her labor. It just makes me sick to see those poor little children denied the love and care of a mother and the protection of a father. Dolly, don't you think this man and his brutal wife will get what is coming to them when they pass on, even if they don't get it here?

DISGUSTED NEIGHBOR.

I wouldn't call the person you are talking about a man. I think he is a great big coward. No man is going to sit by and see his children or any other children being abused. If that woman hasn't anything else to do but abuse helpless little children, she has no business in that man's house, even if she is his wife. She ought to be in prison. There is a difference between correcting children and abusing them. I believe in teaching children to obey their parents and respect their elders, but it isn't necessary to abuse them in order to make them mind. You can get more out of children and grown-ups too, by kindness than you can by trying to pound things into them.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

by Olive Roberts Barton

THE TWINS START OFF FOR DIXIE LAND

She handed Nick a paper with a long list of names on it.

"Have you ever been to Dixie Land, children?" asked the Fairy Queen. "Dixie Land?" repeated Nancy and Nick eagerly. "Where is that?" The Fairy Queen laughed. "You've never been there, dear, or you wouldn't ask that question. You would certainly remember, for Dixie Land is a fine big place. It's the whole south. Didn't you ever hear a song about: 'Away down south in the land of cotton, Gimme fields and sandy bottom, I'll away, I'll away, I'll away?'"

"Yes, we have," answered both twins together. "Is that Dixie Land?" "It certainly is!" said the Fairy Queen. "Does cinnamon grow there?" Nick wanted to know. "Is that why they're called 'cinnamon fields'?"

"No!" The Fairy Queen shook her head. "They are called that because in many places the soil is a rich reddish-brown, exactly the color of cinnamon. And in many places there is a lot of sand, especially along the rivers and river valleys. That's called sandy-bottom, and good for many things to grow in. You'll like Dixie Land because it's different in many ways from the places you have been in."

"Are we going with one of your fairy helpers?" asked Nancy. "No, my dear, I'm sending you by yourselves. I want you to go around and visit all of my friends there, too."

"You can imagine his surprise when Jack had played but a few moments and then saw that there was a great scramble on the cart on which the king's animals and birds had been brought in. All of the bears, deer, rabbits and birds were coming to life.

"Oh," shouted Jack. "I think it is terrible for the king to shoot all those animals." "Well," replied King, "I had about it, just play a little time on this magic flute." And he handed Jack a long black flute. The little adventurer immediately started to play.

Gallie Ann SAYS

With real cold weather just around the corner, the kind that makes you want to bury your chin in a rich warm fur, it is high time for us to start shopping for that winter coat. And naturally I recommend that you see The Fashion's coats. I do this sincerely. For their selection is really remarkable. Mr. Atlas tells me that at present there are four hundred and seventy-five garments in The Fashion's coat section. This is quite a few coats to choose from. They are beautifully styled and well made, too.

The slim, unbelted straight line and the circular flare are close rivals in these carefully selected winter coats. The wrappy coats are cleverly draped and have deep armholes, but the majority of the sleeves are set in. Many are generously collared with fur-platinum wolf, grey-stone fox, viska squirrel, beaver and mar squirrel. Of gersona, marvella, syziate, hufrosa and other lustrous materials; in the season's browns, greys, navies and blacks.

Besides the regular sizes, there are many for the little woman in the "petite" range of sizes; and many for the full formed woman in sizes up to fifty-four.

More Tuesday.

Coughing—a futile waste of strength—

MEDICAL authorities agree that coughing aggravates the irritation in throat and lungs that is causing the cough and therefore only makes you cough the more. Control the cough and the irritation is soon relieved.

Dr. King's New Discovery steps coughing quickly by gently stimulating the mucous membranes to throw off clogging secretions. Harmlessly and effectively the violent throat and chest spasms are quieted, and the inflammation then quickly clears away. It has an agreeable taste. All druggists.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY

Constant hacking only makes a cough worse.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crowe and daughters, the Misses Winifred and Mary Crowe, of Eleventh street, motored to McChallenger yesterday, and spent the day with relatives and friends.

The Junior League of Trinity Church will give a Halloween party this evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Vandervort, 1801 Franklin avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Hoyer and Mr. and Mrs. John C. Wins of this city motored to Huntington, W. Va., Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Kaneff of Archway Inn, Huntington, W. Va.

The Philanthropic Class of the First Baptist Church will meet Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock at the church. All members are urged to attend.

The Philanthropic Class of the Franklin Avenue M. E. Church will meet next Tuesday evening in their class room, with Miss Esther Gullikson as hostess. Every member is asked to be present for the election of officers.

Sisler To Boss Browns

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 22.—George Sisler, who was adjudged the most valuable player in the American League in 1922, and who was unable to play his position at first base this year on account of eye trouble, has been appointed manager of the St. Louis Browns, according to an announcement by Bill Friel, business manager for the club.

In making the announcement, Friel declared that Sisler had signed a contract to manage the team, but that no details, such as salary or length of term, have been decided upon yet.

Sisler, who is reported on good authority to be recovering from effects of sinus trouble which impaired his vision last season, succeeds Jimmy Austin, who was appointed temporary manager of the team after the release of Lee Fohl from latter part of the season just ended.

Republican Progressives Mapping Out Program

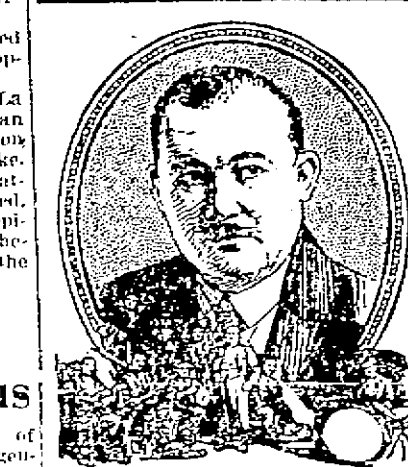

WASHINGTON, October 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Republican progressives of the west, who will hold the balance of power in the new congress, are mapping out a program both as to legislation and the organization of the house and senate and are preparing to enforce their demands by every available means.

Because of the rather unusual situation this will develop and the fact that the 1924 national political campaign is in the offing, leaders of the two dominant parties in congress look for the enactment of little affirmative legislation at the session beginning in December. Adjournment probably will be taken in May for national political congress and much of the time to that date will be taken up with the framing and passing of the annual appropriation bills. Expectation of a soldiers' bonus bill is freely predicted but beyond that leaders are not inclined to commit themselves. Efforts will be made to put through some kind of railroad legislation, but there are so many conflicting

Orwig Shoots Himself

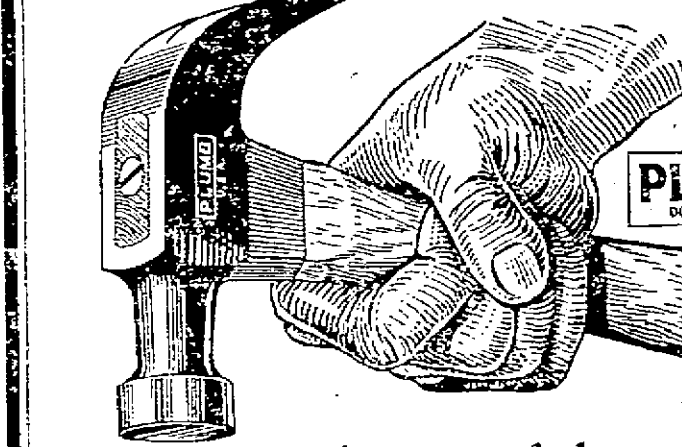

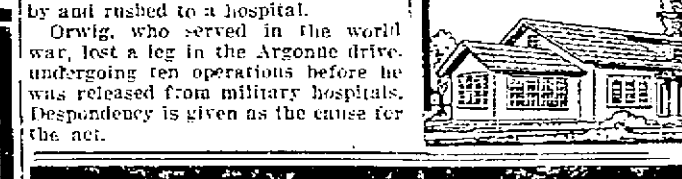

MARION, O., October 22.—(By the Associated Press)—Charles R. Orwig, candidate for state treasurer on the Democratic ticket in 1918, shot and fatally wounded himself in the head today. Physicians say he can not recover. Orwig, who was secretary of the Marion Lodge of Elks, was accustomed to take an automobile ride each morning, and this morning drove into the country, stopped his car and shot himself. He was found a short time later by a passer-by and rushed to a hospital.

Orwig, who served in the world war, lost a leg in the Argentine drive, undergoing ten operations before he was released from military hospitals. Despondency is given as the cause for the act.

Another Bridgeport Woman Gives Evidence

"I am truly glad that I took Tanlac when I did, for I have felt just fine ever since," says Mrs. J. H. Jacobs, 26 Elm street, Bridgeport, Ohio. "I suffered from indigestion. Everything I ate would ferment, creating gas which bloated me badly and nauseated me so I would have to go to bed for hours. My heart would flutter and pound, I would be short of breath, and dull pains below my shoulder blades would compel me to sit down for relief."

"Three bottles of Tanlac did away with my stomach trouble completely. Now I get restful, refreshing sleep, no palpitation, nausea and the pains in my shoulders have all disappeared. In fact, I just feel like a new person. Tanlac is certainly a splendid medicine."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitutes. Over 37 million bottles sold.

CUSTARD CUP with MARY CARR

A New Happy Type of Story BRIGHT AS SUNSHINE! HAPPY AS BLUEBIRDS!

Three High Class Vaudeville Acts and Mary Carr in "The Custard Cup" Are The Big Attractions At The Eastland First Part of This Week

"The Custard Cup," the William Fox special featuring Mary Carr, which comes to the Eastland theater for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, is a bright and entertaining story of modern life, filled with sunshine and optimism.

The characters are all human, many of them delightfully so, and the humor is rich and plentiful. Skillfully blended into the plot are a number of sensational episodes, a thrilling steamboat fire and rescue scenes being among them. A novel feature of this incident is the introduction of a hydroplane in the work of rescue. A raid on a counterfeiters' den which involves "Pezzie," the character played by Mary Carr, is another of the dramatic episodes of the picture.

Mary Carr, Bonnie, Miriam Hotter, Jerry Devine, Ernest McKay, Peggy Shaw, Leslie Leigh, Frederick Esmon, Henry Seelye and Ben Lyon are members of the cast.

Governor Donahey Favors Elimination "Card" Men in Prohibition Enforcement

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—(Special) Governor Vito Donahey will take steps in the next Ohio General Assembly to end "commercialism" of prohibition enforcement in Ohio by "card" men, or special agents, he announced here while attending the conference between state executives and President College.

Donahey, who is satisfied with prohibition enforcement in Ohio and intends that present laws shall not be taken advantage of, declares that "card" men have been guilty of entering private homes and confiscating property without proper legal authority in order to collect the recompensation due them from fines.

He stated that instances had come to light where these agents have worked in collusion with local justices who give them blank warrants with authority to fill in the names of householders whose premises they decide to search.

"These agents number about 400 in the entire state," he said. "I believe in vigorous enforcement, but not in commercialized enforcement where the special agent is permitted to drum up business."

His remedy for this situation, which he will recommend to the state legislature, will consist of appointment of a state enforcement agent in each county to direct searches and seizures, to be paid out of the funds realized by the state from fines collected in prohibition cases.

Governor Donahey commented his present force of state prohibition agents, but regretted the fact that they are only 20 in number and are encountering increasing difficulty in rounding down prohibition violators.

STOCK PRICES TURN HEAVY AFTER STRONG OPENING

Wave Of Selling Of Foreign Bonds

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Week-end developments in Europe caused active selling in practically all foreign government issues, which were sold in the early trading of the day. The recession, however, was not large. Norwegian bonds recently released from syndicate protection continued to apply the same certificate of 1913 reaching a new low. Orders to buy somewhat exceeded those to sell in the railroad group. Although Kelly-Springfield's fell off 1/2 to a new low, most of the other

Bear Selling and European Developments Cause Depression

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Stock prices turned heavy in today's quiet stock market after a rather firm opening. Weakness of the British and continental exchanges in reflection of unfavorable German political developments and a renewal of bear selling in rubber textile and other accessories shares had a depressing effect on sentiment. The closing was heavy. Sales approximated 300,000 shares.

Many Strong Features On Curb

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—There were many strong features in the curb market today, dealing apparently being conducted without regard to the foreign advances, which were effective in causing reactions from high levels of the morning on the New York Stock Exchange. Activity and strength, however, were concentrated to a great extent in issues which are held in control by strong interest, and for the time there appeared no special reason for sustained buying which carried some to new high levels. Hartman Corporation new preferred advanced to a new high but after offering the dividend of an increase in the dividend of the old stock to an 88 basis there was a reaction of over one point, reflecting profit-taking sales. Park and Tilford advanced one point to a new high in the morning. Chicago Nipple "A" was active and strong. A fractional advance was made in Milwaukee Company, Delaware Lackawanna and Western Coal and Iron. A feature was an advance of five points in McCrory new stock which issued to the new high of $0.

Former Secret Service Man Indicted for Dry Law Conspiracy

NEW YORK, October 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Gaston B. Means, a former agent of the department of justice, has been indicted with Elmer W. Jarnecke, described as his secretary, on four counts involving a conspiracy to violate the country's dry laws and using the mails in a scheme to defraud.

Means' indictment became known today when the seals were broken on four indictments handed down last Thursday to Federal Judge Knox. He was released in $15,000 bail for hearing later. It was understood Jarnecke would appear tomorrow.

The indictment charges a series of conspiracies to violate the national prohibition act, the liquor tax law and the internal revenue laws by illegally removing liquor from bonded warehouses and of using the mails to defraud Sam Schmidt, of Chicago, in a whiskey selling deal.

In the mail fraud the conspirators were charged with having agreed to furnish bootleggers with choice brands of whiskey from distilleries and bonded warehouses. Mentioned in connection with this operation were McIntyre, a Tammany attorney; A. L. Wilson, a druggist, formerly of Pittsburgh; Dr. "Lobengier," a man called Sam and another named "Kittler."

One of the schemes of the conspirators, it was said, involved 500,000 cases of whiskey and another 12,000 cases and 12,500 barrels of Kentucky and Pennsylvania liquors. From November 1, 1921, to March, 1923, the indictment charged, the accused conspired to violate the prohibition act and other federal laws more than 100 times.

Means has been a prominent figure since the early days of America's entrance into the war when he was recruited as an employee of the German government through Captain Karl Boy-Ed, the former German naval attaché at Washington. In September, 1917, he was alone with Mrs. Maude C. King, wealthy Chicago woman, when she met death near Concord, N. C. He was exonerated of blame in that tragedy. In 1920 during his attempt to have prosecuted the second will of James C. King, wealthy lumberman of Chicago, Means admitted his German government connections before the court. He created a sensation then by declaring that an old tomb in Trinity churchyard in lower New York was used for the transfer of sums of money between himself and Boy-Ed.

At least ten other men admitted that they were participants in plots hatched by Means and his secretary, but the court said they had avoided being noted as defendants by testifying before the federal grand jury. One of the indictments involved a plot whereby Means, his secretary, Charles W. Johnson, and Jacob Stein, were charged with the illegal transportation of liquor from the Saint Brownsville, Pa., to a private store room in Pittsburgh. Johnson was said to have paid Jarnecke $15,000 to further the plot and at this time Means was a special agent in the employ of the government.

Another charged Means and Jarnecke with a plot to remove from 12,000 to 12,500 barrels of whiskey from Old Weaver Springs distillery warehouse at Harrodsburg, Ky. Others mentioned in connection with this plot but not as defendants, were George E. Auld, Frank C. Morgan, Charles Stuart, C. B. Moelling, John C. Schilling and Jacob Stein.

Another indictment named only Means as defendant and involved a scheme to remove 88 barrels of whiskey from a warehouse at Meadville, Penn.

THIEVES BALKED IN ATTEMPTING TO BURGLARIZE FREYTAG STORE

Burglars made an unsuccessful attempt to jimmy the rear door of the A. J. Freytag grocery, on Kinney's boulevard, Ashland, Saturday night, but the robbers failed to gain entrance and evidently gave up the job in disgust or were frightened away.

The attempt to enter the establishment was discovered this morning by Mr. Freytag and he promptly notified the police who are investigating. From all indications the burglars were not familiar with the store as their plan to enter was balked by shelving, which extends across the door, which they tried to open.

May Have Cooked Victim; Body Discovered In Huge Kettle

SAN DIEGO, CAL., October 22.—(By the United Press.)—A large kettle, said to have been used in the yard of Everett Clark's Mission Drive "ghost house" for two days after the disappearance of George E. Seftel, San Diego broker, in which authorities believe Seftel's body may have been cooked, was found today. Discovered in a dense underbrush in Mission Canyon the cauldron yielded grisly evidence. Charred fragments of bones tumbled out as officers lifted it and the inside was lined with a black crust.

The bones are identical in appearance with those found in the yard of the Clark home around the spot where the kettle was said to have bubbled over a fire for forty-eight hours. An examination of first set of bones was made by Dr. H. Thompson. He said it was impossible to tell whether they were human or animal, as they were burned to cinders and not large enough to be identified by their structure.

Colored Voters Entertained By The G. O. P. Leaders

Durbin Makes No Comment on Donahey's Statement

KENTON, O., October 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—W. W. Durbin, Democratic state chairman, today refused to comment when shown newspaper dispatches containing a Washington dispatch quoting Governor Donahey as saying he would vote for Coolidge next year if Governor Al Smith, of New York, is nominated for the presidency by the Democrats. Mr. Durbin indicated that he might have something to say later.

The Washington dispatch

printed in The Times today reads:

"I'll tell you how much of a Democrat I am on the score of state's rights, when it comes to a matter of prohibition enforcement," said Governor Vic Donahey, of Ohio, today, before leaving for Columbus. He brought down his list on the table of his hotel room and continued:

"If Al Smith is nominated for president by the Democrats next year and Cal Coolidge is nominated by the Republicans, I'll vote for Coolidge."

Charges

A bill of impeachment, attached to the report, charged Governor Walton with having "received into a muggerment and arrangement" with E. M. Marland, by which Marland purchased $30,000 in notes given by the executive on a residence he purchased here in May. This transaction was declared "willfully corrupt" in that, as chairman of the state board of equalization, the governor was placed under "great financial obligations" to Marland who was described as "having taxable wealth to the extent of several million dollars."

It is believed that with the house meeting this afternoon, balloting on the accusations will begin by tonight or tomorrow morning. Members of the committee say that if any of the charges are sustained, Mr. E. T. Trapp, lieutenant governor, will become acting governor by midnight tomorrow night.

The senate will be asked to take up the impeachment charges within two days, senate leaders say, with the final verdict to be reached within ten days. Governor Walton will face the accusations through to the end, he declared last night.

"There is nothing to the report," he told the Associated Press, when informed of rumors that he intended to resign today. "Such rumors are merely to weaken my friends and supporters and stampede them. I have no intention of resigning—have never even contemplated such a thing."

Thus Governor Walton's declaration of war on the Ku Klux Klan approaches a climax through the maze of marital law, statewide military government, a defeated attempt of the lower house of the legislature to convene and, finally, the enactment at a special election of a constitutional amendment which permits the legislature to convene without call of the governor.

Kohler's Sign Torn Down

CLEVELAND, O., October 22.—(By the Associated Press.)—Mayor Kohler's personal publicity sign-board in Gordon Park that has caused friction between the mayor and Police Lieutenant Andrew Hagan and Emmett Potts, is down this morning.

The sign board, reading: "To the tax and rent payers: I kept the wolf from Cleveland's door—Fred Kohler, Mayor," lay bruised, battered and dismembered in the gutter this morning. Some one had pulled it down early this morning.

Sunday morning three men drove up to the sign and daubed huge smears of white paint over its orange and black letters.

Four bill posters who were arrested Thursday by Lieutenants Hagan and Potts for violating the park ordinance in erecting the sign, had their case continued.

Hagan and Potts ordered transferred to the "Woods" Friday by Acting Chief Matowila, sought a temporary injunction restraining their transfer in common pleas court.

Football Game

Waverly III was defeated Saturday by Chillicothe III 7 to 0 in a very poorly played contest at Amusement Park. The visitors made their touchdown in the third quarter by means of a completed pass and a series of end runs and off tackle plays. Waverly's line was completely outplayed by Chillicothe which accounts for the victory. The visitors showed no superiority in the back field. It is understood that Chillicothe used their regular line and their second string back field. The Ross County fans excited the locals in passing the ball and in punting. Dougherty, Rader, Addis, Shelpman and Smith played a strong game for Waverly. Howard Middleton acted as referee. A good sized crowd was in attendance.

Earl Sande kicked Zev (on the inside) into the lead the very second the starting barriers were sprung. Here you see the American entry getting the jump on the English Derby winner.

This probably shows how the race was won and lost. Sande allowed Zev to run with his head free, while Jocke Donoghue seems to be restraining Papyrus from Zev's killing pace.

At the mile post Zev's advantage has increased and Papyrus and his rider are being spattered with mud from the heels of the American horse which is drawing away as they enter the stretch.

IRONTON TANKS SMOTHER THE SMOKE HOUSE TEAM, 40 TO 0.

Displaying all their reputed form, the Tanks of Ironton ploughed through the Portsmouth Smoke House eleven Sunday on the Ironton battlefield and turned in a victory of 40 to 0. The crushing defeat was just about what was expected when the local football fans, who have been following the working of the local team, saw the Smoke House tribe trot out onto the field and then compared them with the husky looking Tank crew. The Tanks came up to all expectations and their speedy backs effected the ends at the line for steady gains and the majority of the yardage gained resulting from end runs by Davies, Ironton mixed in several successful forward passes that helped materially in running up the score.

"Heck," DeVoss was the local star. He was given the ball to carry almost every time and was worked to death. He had a willing player and he sure did his share towards advancing the ball for Portsmouth and in playing a defensive game. Chibot played a bagging game the few times he was in and Adams was going well until the time he was hurt. Captain Ackroyd was the only other player of the local eleven to make a showing.

Portsmouth made first down soon after receiving the ball on the kick-off. DeVoss gained 9-12 yards and Reinhardt speaking for the "needed" half. DeVoss made two one yard gains and Ackroyd punted. Davies was returned after making 10 yards on the punt. On a wide play, end Jones gained 10 yards and on the play Chibot was hurt and had to go to the hospital. Andrews fumbled and Portsmouth recovered on the next play. Portsmouth was penalized 15 yards for interference, this placed the ball within the shadow of the Ironton kick-off. Andrews attempted to punt the ball and was blocked and it rolled behind the goal, where Brooks fell on it for 6 points. Andrews kicked goal.

DeVoss received on the 3 yard line and ran it back to the 30 yard line. This led the running back of the ball on Ironton was one of the features of the game. DeVoss made first down by making 4 and then 6 on end runs. A pass to Adams blocked out of his hands into the waiting fingers of Andrews. A pass to Jones was good for first down. Line backs then carried it over. Ball going through the line for 6 points. The kick was no good.

Ironton got the ball on downs on the local 40 yard line. A pass to Andrews was good for 20 yards. Pope lost 7 on a tackle through tackle play. Two passes failed but a pass to Jones was good for 25 yards. Davies was held for no gain. He was then thrown for a 2 yard loss by Woods and Ackroyd, and then a 3 yard loss when Big Bill Brooks got in his way. Crews recovered a fumble on the 25 yard line. Portsmouth lost the ball on a fumble. Davies then went around end for 27 yards and a touchdown. A pass over the goal, although incomplete, counted for one point as Portsmouth was off side.

Just before the half ended Moore showed Pope how to carry the ball on the tackle play by making 7 yards. Reported plays found Ironton line waiting for Moore. The half ended without further scoring. The third quarter was about half over when the next touchdown came. Stevo for Portsmouth had intercepted a pass and on the next play Harris for the Tanks intercepted a pass. Davies made 32 yards on a right end run. Several line backs by Poole and Hall and then a 22 yard end run by Davies resulted in a touchdown. A pass for the 1 point failed. Score 26-0.

The next touchdown was the result of a blocked punt. Ironton recovered for Ironton behind the local's goal and out of bounds. Andrews drop-kicked from the 30 yard line. Score 38-0.

The final touchdown was the result of repeated passes to Andrews and Barron.

Big Teams Face Real Opponents Next Saturday

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Bathed in action and touched up with iodine, the college football squads go into practice today after the first serious battles of the year, their coaches well supplied with information about just where the trouble with each team lies.

Heavy scoring in a majority of Saturday's games indicated that defensive work had not been perfected on most playing machines. Princeton, the most notable instance among the first rank of defense, is due for some heavy line work before the Navy game next Saturday. After the Tigers' defeat of 25 to 7 at the hands of Notre Dame, it was announced that Charlie Caldwell and Forrest, varsity centers, and Dan Caulkins, the speedy regular quarters would be back on the field for this week's game at the Baltimore stadium against the Annapolis eleven. Caldwell is one of the most valuable men on the team and his absence with the others on the hospital list was deeply felt last week.

Harvard, which showed a weak line attack in the game with Holy Cross, will work hard on that type of play in preparation for the game with Dartmouth. The Crimson goal line defense was as well perfected as could be expected.

Washington and Jefferson, after its victory over Carnegie Tech, will start getting ready today for the University of Detroit. Yale suffered more severely than any other college perhaps, with the loss of Charley O'Hara, star half back, who is out for the rest of the season with a broken leg. His only thought now is to recover before the hockey season gets under way.

The Blue coaches have their work cut out for them to develop a reliable drop-kicker and punter before the Brown game next Saturday.

State is Handicapped By Lack of Real Quarterback; Comment on Saturday's Game

Before the Ohio State eleven is rounded into a well-balanced piece of football machinery Coach White must develop a brainy quarterback. This was very apparent in the Michigan game at Ann Arbor, as Michigan's game plan was to shut out the State's offense. In fact many of their signals were interrupted by either "Captain" Percott or Harry Workman. There was a conference and the team lined up. Some of the players did not get the formation, the signals were repeated, and then Michigan promptly broke up the play. A constant confusion of signals played havoc with State's offense Saturday. Its line held like adamant and the back field worked splendidly, but in almost every play while he was in the game Saturday and looks like a conner, State really has some good material and with Klee back at quarter this week it should make a lot of trouble for Iowa, Chicago and Illinois.

State players were their red head gears Saturday, their new red jerseys and their new scarlet and gray socks. The team making a fine showing fought hard and tenaciously, but when it was all over Captain Kipke was the first man to shake hands with Captain Percott, of State, and then the players' shook hands all around and there was no ill feeling as the players left the field. True the Michiganmen were jubilant and several of the State players were in tears, but some real sportsmanship had been displayed.

Referee McKersell, famous quarter-back and drop-kicker, said it was the cleanest game he had ever witnessed, there being only one penalty and that on a mere technicality.

Cunningham, State's left end, was in almost every play while he was in the game Saturday and looks like a conner. State really has some good material and with Klee back at quarter this week it should make a lot of trouble for Iowa, Chicago and Illinois.

State and Michigan had wonderful cheering squads Saturday, their bands strutting their plumes and there was a riot of color to the classic before the referee's whistle called the players into action.

It was the largest crowd that ever witnessed a football game in Ann Arbor.

Up in Ann Arbor the wisecracks say that next year's team at Michigan will also be a crack-jack, as there is a wealth of good material in the ranks of the freshmen. We shall see.

Trade Hi Wins
 Trade Hi of Columbus, who plays Portsmouth here on November 17, lost 33 to 19 when they played West Hi of Columbus, Saturday. Curry, a colored led who plays and for Trade was the star in the contest.

Saw Big Game

Ironton Panthers Beat Local Eleven

Three points scored early in the game on a drop kick from the 25 yard line gave the Ironton Panthers a victory over the Smoke House Juniors-Stralers combination eleven on Midbrook gridiron Sunday afternoon. The game was a real battle and the fair-sized crowd of fans who witnessed the contest were well repaid for their time.

The Panthers scored in the first quarter after Brisker, tackle on the New Boston eleven, dropped back in line and fumbled a Panther man, recovering the ball. After falling to gain on line plays the Panthers took a long change and tried a drop-kick, which fortunately sailed between the uprights and over the bar for the winning points.

The Panthers were held in check by the local combination eleven made up of players from the New Boston Smoke Shop Stralers and Smoke House Juniors. The locals played a fine brand of football and made steady gains through the visitors' line, but when they sat within the shadow of the visitors' goal they did not have the push to carry it over or would lose the pigskin on a fumble.

Noble Lott, former P. H. S. star, who is now a dentist in New Boston, performed at fullback and played a great game. He made gain after gain for the locals with Weidner and Counts helping out in the line. All three proved fleet-footed backfield men and in addition to running around the ends, all three were used with considerable force. Vernon Smith of New Boston and Schreck of this city worked at the quarter back position. Chas. Cleveland and Slattery also worked out in the backfield for the locals. Most of the playing was in the Panthers' territory. The locals made a good showing, considering the fact that they lined up for the first time Sunday afternoon before the game and selected their signals and plays.

The locals used the following line-up: Haislet, right end; A. Onkes, right tackle; C. Onkes, right guard; Elliott, center; Lavinder, left guard; Brisker, left tackle; Burns, left end; Smith and Schreck, quarter-back; Counts and Cleveland, right half; Lott, fullback and Weidner and Slattery, left half.

Hays Motor Team Defeats M'Dermott

The Hays Motor nine again showed its superiority over the M'Dermott aggregation yesterday afternoon when the motor boys went over to the village and polished off John Simons highly touted champions by the count of 15 to 3.

Ballegee, who started on the hill for the home team, was bumped severely by the visiting ballers from the outset and the invaders ran up a big lead off his output that Archie decided it was not his day to shine and took the cool Autumn air in the third. Brennan managed him and he was touched up pretty lively the rest of the way.

Obba Lewis, star sharpshooter of the Hays gang, had a sore thumb, and played first base while Landon Wells did the hurling and while hit freely at times was not forced to extend himself to protect the big lead his companions piled up in the early rounds.

The exhibition, which was witnessed by a big crowd, was marked by many misplays on both sides and the combat was featured by heavy hitting in which the victors excelled. Blake led the attack with three safe blows, including a double and a triple and walked twice.

O.W.U. Gridders Confident They Will Give Colgate Real Battle

DELAWARE, O., Oct. 22.—With Colgate their next opponent and the doublet against them, Ohio Wesleyan players, coaches and fans face the final week of preparation before their invasion of the East with a dejected determination to work and fight to the final second to show the Maroon that the Ohio Conference affords competition of real class. The clash with Colgate at Utica, Saturday, is, nevertheless, regarded as the hardest spot on a tough schedule.

"If the 23-23 score of the Colgate-Ohio State game is fair indication of the relative strength of the teams, we'll give Colgate a battle," says Wesleyan coaches and players. Wesleyan State for more than half of their game, these folks argue, and then it was a case of an inexperienced team going to pieces in its first game following a big break and a 70-yard penalty.

Wesleyan's squad will put in another strenuous week polishing the execution of plays and strengthening defense. Wesleyan's rulers will also put in a hard week getting to the game. Red and black followers by the score are planning to make the journey East by train, automobile and on foot as their various pocketbooks dictate.

May Match My Own and Zev

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Followers of the turf are discussing a probable race between Zev, winner over Papyrus in Saturday's international classic, and My Own, another three-year-old of note.

The excitement of the great American victory hardly subsided when Harry P. Sinclair, owner of Zev, last night came forward with the announcement that his horse was ready to meet Rear Admiral Cary T. Grayson's own, if the race could be staged within the next ten days. He said he would prefer the Belmont park track for the event.

Mr. Sinclair's announcement pleased the admirers of My Own, many of whom are convinced that Zev will finish second when the thoroughbreds meet.

My Own was boosted by many as the choice for the race against Papyrus and if the two horses meet they will settle all arguments of long standing.

Do Tell; England Is Peeved Because Papyrus Was Beaten Decisively

LONDON, Oct. 22.—(By the Associated Press).—Betting men in England, discussing Zev's victory at Belmont, were last Saturday, said that it was foolish to send Papyrus to the United States to race under such conditions, that no horse possibly could do himself justice on a track quite different from these to which it had been accustomed. In such short notice, and that the only lesson to be learned from the match is: "Don't do it again."

Park Pheasants Win Game

The Park Pheasants from York park flew over the North Moreland gridiron Sunday to the tune of 12 to 6. The Pheasants played a better all-around game than their opponents. The first touchdown came in the first three minutes of play, the city eleven making the points.

The thieves gained entrance to the store by boring a hole in the window sash and releasing the lock, the intruders leaving a brace and bit behind. The loot consisted principally of a dozen or more skein rings, a 25 caliber rifle, several pairs of shoes and $25 in pennies which was in the cash register drawer. The drawer was removed from the register and was later found on the B. and O. railroad tracks where it had been demolished by a train.

SENATORS TO TRAIN IN FLORIDA

Instead the three likely will go into country famous for its winter resorts, citrus fruits, peaches and alligators.

One of the senators was more than ready to go to Florida. He is a secretary of the Buckeyes. Two towns in Florida are being considered by the Columbus management. One is Lake City and the other Winter Haven.

P. H. S. HAS EDGE ON IRONTON

The high school contest in Ironton, Saturday, was the first visit of a Red and Blue squad there since 1920. In that year the two eleven's battled to a tie. The following year the P. H. S. tribe defeated Ironton by a lone touchdown. Last year after P. H. S. had the game several up Ironton opened her offensive tricks and walked away with a 22 to 12 victory. This gives P. H. S. the edge on the contests between the two eleven's with two won, one lost and one tied.

STAR BASEBALL BATTERY CONNECTS ON GRIDIRON

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—"Workman to Martin."

It has a springtime sound and looks rather strange in a football summary. Nevertheless, it's true. Ohio State's great baseball battery of last spring's linked up again, this time in football armor. After quarterback Judy was hurt in the Colgate game, Director White sprang a surprise at the sight of the second half by injecting Martin, until a few days ago a quarterback on one of the scrub eleven's, into the Buckeye line-up at quarterback.

"Pat," as he is best known, gave an excellent account of himself and won the commendation of his White. He carried his name into the Buckeye hall of fame by receiving one of O.W.U.'s forward passes near the Colgate line and then scrambled the last five yards on his hands and knees for the badly needed touchdown.

Martin probably will see a good deal more action from now on.
